There are 2 demos that show the block as a function of two different modules.

FEATURES

Finally it is also available for PHPNuke block professional can show you the latest news or the latest downloads and the latest contents of any form.

Unlike the similar blocks that require manual entry of text and images, this block will automatically show the latest Article published in a form that the text on the image.

In this new release, all parameters can be managed in a very easy and fast directly to the file block.

To enter the article should use the editor (FCK or any other editor) to generate html code that also contains an image.

By default, the news module works on the block and is able to automatically extract the image from the html code present in the variable $ hometext module.

To use the power of other modules need to replace the variable in the query, the transaction is simple to make and, if in doubt, please ask on our forum.
